Sunflowers Designs of Prague 2019-07-27 Decorative Notebooks for People who Love Art MULTIPURPOSE: Blank journal notebook for sketching, jotting down thoughts, doodling, and taking notes COVER DESIGN: A bold and beautiful reproduction of "Sunflowers" by Van Gogh (1889) QUALITY: Non-glossy cover, so fingerprints and light glare won't be a problem. Premium quality paper provides an enjoyable writing experience. SIZE: 6 x 9 inches - 100 pages - Easy to Carry About the Cover: Van Gogh's paintings of Sunflowers are among his most famous. He did them in Arles, in the south of France, in 1888 and 1889. Vincent painted a total of five large canvases with sunflowers in a vase, with three shades of yellow 'and nothing else'. In this way, he demonstrated that it was possible to create an image with numerous variations of a single colour, without any loss of eloquence. The sunflower paintings had a special significance for Van Gogh: they communicated 'gratitude', he wrote. He hung the first two in the room of his friend, the painter Paul Gauguin, who came to live with him for a while in the Yellow House. Gauguin was impressed by the sunflowers, which he thought were 'completely Vincent'. Van Gogh had already painted a new version during his friend's stay and Gauguin later asked for one as a gift, which Vincent was reluctant to give him. He later produced two loose copies, however, one of which is now in the Van Gogh Museum.

Self Portrait (Vincent Van Gogh, 1889) Designs of Prague 2019-08 Decorative Notebooks for People who Love Art MULTIPURPOSE: Blank journal notebook for sketching, jotting down thoughts, doodling, and taking notes COVER DESIGN: A bold and beautiful reproduction of "Self Portrait" by Van Gogh (1889) QUALITY: Non-glossy cover, so fingerprints and light glare won't be a problem. Premium quality paper provides an enjoyable writing experience. SIZE: 6 x 9 inches - 100 pages - Easy to Carry About the Cover: This, the last of Van Gogh's self-portraits and one of the greatest, was painted only months before his death. The compulsive, restless all-over ornament of the background, recalling the work of mental patients, is for some physicians an evidence that the painting was done in a psychotic state. But the self-image of the painter shows a masterly control and power of observation, a mind perfectly capable of integrating the elements of its chosen activity. The background reminds us of the rhythms of The Starry Night, which the portrait resembles also in the dominating bluish tone of the work. The flowing, pulsing forms of the background, schemata of sustained excitement, are not just ornament, although related to the undulant forms of the decorative art of the 1890s; they are unconfined by a fixed rhythm or pattern and are a means of intensity, rather, an overflow of the artist's feelings onto his surroundings. Beside the powerful modeling of the head and bust, so compact and weighty, the wall pattern appears a pale, shallow ornament. Yet the same rhythms occur in the figure and even in the head, which are painted in similar close-packed, coiling, and wavy lines. As we shift our attention from the man to his surroundings and back again, the analogies are multiplied; the nodal points, or centers, in the background ornament begin to resemble more the eyes and ear and buttons of the figure. Self portrait is a motif that Van Gogh always returns to, as artists have always returned to their beloved themes - Monet his The Waterlily Pond, Cezanne his Mont Sainte-Victoire. During his lifetime, Van Gogh created more than 30 self portraits.

Irises Designs of Prague 2019-08 Decorative Notebooks for People who Love Art MULTIPURPOSE: Blank journal notebook for sketching, jotting down thoughts, doodling, and taking notes COVER DESIGN: A bold and beautiful reproduction of "Irises" by Van Gogh (1889) QUALITY: Non-glossy cover, so fingerprints and light glare won't be a problem. Premium quality paper provides an enjoyable writing experience. SIZE: 6 x 9 inches - 100 pages - Easy to Carry About the Cover: On May 8, 1889, Vincent Van Gogh committed himself to the asylum at Saint Paul-de-Mausole in Saint-Remy, France after many instances of hospitalization and self-mutilation. During his stay he painted some 130 paintings with the surrounding gardens and clinic becoming his main subjects for painting. Among these were the famous The Starry Night and Irises. Inspired by the nature surrounding him, Van Gogh began his work on Irises within the first week of his stay at the asylum. Irises was most likely influenced by Japanese woodblock prints which were produced beginning in the 17th century. Like many artists of his time Van Gogh was influenced by the Japanese works. The use of black contours in Irises is a typical element of Japanese woodblock prints. It helped to reinforce the expressive power of the painting. There are no known drawings of the piece, probably because Van Gogh did not consider it a masterpiece but simply a study. Upon receiving the canvas Van Gogh's brother, Theo, submitted it, along with The Starry Night, to the Salon des Independants in September of 1889. Irises is on the list of the most expensive paintings ever sold, selling for 54 million dollars in 1987. Currently Irises is on display at The Getty Center in Los Angeles, California.
